

<http://74.125.47.132/search?q=cache:lZTAYklkXScJ:www.cabaretexchange.com/index.php/review/cd-reviews-mainmenu-153/974-whitney-james-the-nature-of-love+whitney+james+the+nature+of+love&cd=4&hl=en&ct=clnk&gl=us>

Whitney James - The Nature Of Love

 Tweet this article !

Written by George W Carroll

I recently read a piece of a review about jazz singer Whitney James by fellow CD reviewer Philip Booth of The St Petersburg Times. He said about Whitney's new CD project: ".....A startlingly impressive and mature debut CD....." Nuff said!! Whitney not only can turn a musical phrase with complete authority and artistic presence, but she has featured a wonderful trumpet-er, one Ingrid Jensen who only adds a cogent impact to an already successful CD project. In the area of vocalise, Whitney asserts herself with vigor and a certain perpetual flow of passion, feeling and total abandon in her vocal delivery. Nothing hum-drum here. On the contrary, this CD abounds with an underpinning of both instrumental and vocal beauty, gentleness, and sensitiveness.